BAD WEATHER PREVAILS ALONG THE SOMME FRONT
PARIS, July 24.—Bad weather prevails along the Somme front in Northern France, and last night passed quietly with the French troops there, the War Office announced today.

In a raid near Vailly, north of the Aisne, German trenches were penetrated and some prisoners taken.
On the Verdun front, east of the Meuse, there were small local engagements, in the course of which the French took thirty prisoners, making the total taken prisoner during the last ten days in this district 800.
Sublieutenant Chaput, of the aviation corps, brought down his eighth hostile aeroplane near Presnes, in the Woëvre region.

On the east the Russian advance guards are within fifteen miles of the place, which is eighty miles southwest of Erzerum.

BRITISH CAVALRY FORCES DEFEATED BY TURKS
CONSTANTINOPLE, July 24 (via London).—A defeat of British cavalry detachments by Turkish forces east of Suez, near the canal, is announced in today's official statement. The British fled towards the canal, pursued by the Turks. British detachments advancing west of Katia, thirty miles from the canal, were driven off by Turkish skirmishers. The statement also announces a further retreat of Russian forces in Persia before Turkish pressure.

BRITISH WIN FEW HOUSES IN VILLAGE OF POZIERES
BERLIN, July 24 (via London).—The advance gained by the British in the fighting on the Somme front on Sunday, says the German official statement issued today, was the penetration of a few houses in the village of Pozieres, for which they paid with heavy and sanguinary losses.

RILEY'S BODY LIES IN STATE IN INDIANA STATE CAPITOL

Thousands of Men, Women and Children Pass Before Casket to Take Farewell Look.

INDIANAPOLIS, IND., July 24.—Thousands of men, women and children, admirers of the works of James Whitcomb Riley, the Hoosier poet, passed before the casket in which his body lay in state in the Capitol today this afternoon and early tonight. Many of the persons who passed before the body were in the classroom which the poet had written.

The casket was covered with three floral designs only. They were the Star and the rainbow, and one from a friend.

Despite floral arrangements, and not being made early this evening, as Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Powers, of New York, sister of the poet, had not arrived or telegraphed her desire in the morning. The other admirers were waiting to look at the body before taking final action. The burial will be either in Indianapolis or Greenfield, Ind., his boyhood home.

The body will not be placed in a casket and black vault. The executive committee of the committee which arranged the Riley Day celebration October 5, 1915, has decided to decorate the vault with flowers and rugs.

Policemen on duty at the State house estimated tonight that at least 10,000 persons passed through the cemetery and took a farewell look at the beloved poet who "sang of common things" before the body was returned to the home in Greenfield.

Brief funeral services will be held at the home at 2:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, and the body placed in a receiving vault at Crown Hill Cemetery here, according to tentative plans made here late tonight.

Dr. Joseph A. Shuford, of Sewanee, Tenn., formerly pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church in this city, and an intimate friend of Mr. Riley, will conduct the services, assisted by the Rev. Frederick E. Taylor, of the First Baptist Church of this city. Among the honorary and active pallbearers will be Vice-President Thomas R. Marshall, John W. Kern and Thomas Taggart, United States senators; Dr. Charles W. Fairbanks, governor; Senator M. H. Reister, Henry Watterson, of Louisville; Harry S. New, Meredith Nicholson and George Ade.

A large delegation from Greenfield, Ind., Riley's boyhood home, called at the Riley home tonight in an endeavor to induce the family to have the body buried there. No decision was reached, it was said.

PRESIDENT SENDS TELEGRAM OF CONDOLENCE
WASHINGTON, July 24.—President Wilson today sent the following telegram to Henry Riley, of Indianapolis, brother-in-law of the late James Whitcomb Riley:

"May I not express to you my sincere sorrow at the death of James Whitcomb Riley? With his departure a notable figure passes out of the nation's life; a man who imparted joyful pleasure and a thoughtful view of many things that others might have missed. I am sure I am speaking the feeling of the whole country in expressing my own sense of loss."

Wilson's Birthplace Among Attractions

Virginia Editors Will Find Much of Interest During Their Visit to Staunton.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

STAUNTON, VA., July 24.—Many members of the Virginia Press Association, which meets in this city beginning tomorrow, will visit for the first time the birthplace of President Woodrow Wilson, and the city in which the "city-manager" form of government originated. These are not the only distinctive features of the city of Staunton, for it has a record dating back to 1748, when the hamlet became a town. Even at that date it was the principal trading point for a prosperous agricultural district, and it has held this trade and increased it.

Conservative estimates give Staunton a population of 12,000. Building permits are increasing each year, and the city's growth has been steady, substantial and permanent. The five banks in Staunton have resources of more than $3,500,000, the bank deposits being about $240 per capita.

Staunton has schools—Chesapeake and Ohio and the Baltimore and Ohio—and thirteen miles distant has direct connection with a third. The forty-four manufacturing enterprises are doing a business of about $1,225,000 annually. Among the number is an organ factory reputed to be the largest in the world.

During last year, apples worth $650,000 were sold in the apple country of Augusta County, of which Staunton is the principal city. The city has a fine climate, superior educational advantages and splendid public utilities, which combine to make living conditions ideal. The city of Staunton owns and operates its splendid water system and street-lighting plant, which represents an investment of $270,000. The street lighting, gas, telephone and domestic building systems are owned by private companies.

Seven or eight years ago a group of business men evolved from the more conservative commission government, then not coming into vogue, the idea of entrusting the management of the city's business to one business man. This "city-manager" system, originating in Staunton, is now in successful operation in many parts of the country. The plan has worked wonders for efficiency and economy in Staunton.

LARGE MANUFACTURERS TURN OUT MANY ARTICLES

Besides a large creamery, a large cold storage plant with a capacity of 100,000 barrels of fruit and vegetables, cold storage facilities for small fruits, vegetables, poultry, etc., Staunton manufacturers ice, cattle feed, fertilizers, peanuts, plows, wagons, horse-drawn and motor, and two good daily newspapers, a couple of weeklies, and educational institutions add to her importance.

Commenting on the selection of Staunton by the executive committee of the Virginia Press Association, the Danville Register says: "Those who know it will testify that Staunton is no mean city." On the contrary, it is one of the most cultured, progressive and pretentious little cities in the South and is a prosperous one, without its being a location in the Valley of Virginia, with a climate of blue mountains, its strategic position and handsome residences; its famous educational institutions and the location there of two large State educational institutions make it a particularly interesting place. It is also the center of a region of unusual natural interest. Weyer's Cave, or the Grotto, is but a short distance away. Mount Pilot, one of the highest peaks in Virginia, is within easy riding distance. Staunton has always been famous. The old Spectator, the Moderator, the old Valley Virginian and the present daily newspapers, the News and the Leader, have established it as a worthy upholder, the best traditions of the Virginia press. To the old-timers the mention of the Staunton press calls up memories of Maury, Tinsley, Yost, and others who made its press a power."

SENATOR N. B. EARLY, JR., COMES OUT FOR CONGRESS of fitness to the whole district and to Senator Early.

It is claimed that Senator Early's support will be very strong in Albemarle, Greene, Charlottesville, Madison, Rappahannock and Rockingham.

"Senator Early is an alumnus of the Virginia Military Institute and the University of Virginia, where he studied law under Professor John R. Minor. He is a man of means and a successful farmer. He has served as a member of the General Assembly of Virginia for two decades, first in the House of Delegates and later in the Senate. He is a practical and well-rounded man."

DISTRICT COMMITTEE MEETS

At a meeting scheduled to be held today in Washington, the Seventh Congressional District Democratic Committee will determine the manner of nominating the successor to Representative Hay.

It is assumed by Seventh-District leaders that a special primary is out of the question, and that Mr. Hay's successor will be nominated by a convention. The committee is expected to call a convention to be held in Charlottesville or Harrisonburg, where the first-named is the end of August.

While an earlier nomination is preferred by many Democrats in order that the party nominee may have more time to devote to his campaign against the Republican opposition that is expected to develop, it will probably be found impracticable. It is understood that Representative Hay will not resign his seat in the House until Congress adjourns. Adjournment is not expected until early in September.

WEAVER NOT RECEIVING EXHAUSTIVE SUPPORT

Mr. Hay's elevation to the Court of Claims and his impending retirement from Congress after a service of twenty years have created in the Seventh District the liveliest political situation that has been known in the history of the district. The names of Weyer, of Weaver for the circuit judge.

LOVE LISTENING POST ONLY LOSS OF GERMANS

Strong Russian Offensive on Dvina Front at End, at Least Temporarily.

FOREMOST TRENCHES HOLD

Nature of Attack Believed to Indicate That It Was Serious Effort to Break Trench Lines at This Point. Both Sides Suffer Heavy Losses.

ON THE DVINA FRONT, SOUTH-EAST OF RIGA, Thursday, July 20 (via Berlin, July 23, and London, July 21).—The strong Russian offensive, which began on July 16, along the sector between Plankenen and a point just southeastward of the eastern end of the Island of Dahlen, in the Dvina River, has come, at least temporarily, to an end. The correspondent of the Associated Press has just returned from a visit to the foremost trenches near the eastern end of the sector which has withstood the Russian attack.

The attack in this sector was carried out, as also was an attack further eastward toward Uakul, by five divisions. It appears that the attack was designed chiefly as a diversion in connection with the heavy offensive on both sides of the main road running from Kekkau southward to Bausk. German officers say that the nature of the offensive showed that beyond a doubt it was a serious effort to break the German lines at this point.

Along a line some four or five miles long, where the fighting was hottest, the Russians, after fifty hours of drum-fire preparation, launched an offensive with the Third, Twelfth, Thirteenth and Sixteenth Divisions—all elite troops—and the One Hundred and Twenty-first Infantry Division. The result of the five days of desperate fighting was the capture by the Russians of a lone German listening post, which was to have been transformed eventually into an advance permanent position. Russian prisoners repeatedly reported that there were only five or six survivors in their company.

GERMAN LOSSES LIGHT COMPARED WITH RUSSIAN

The German losses were not considerable, but were declared to be light in comparison with those of the Russians.

A new offensive would not come as a surprise, since the strategic value of breaking the German front along the Kekkau road is plainly understood fully by the enemy. Such a breach, one could be sure, would compel the abandonment of the present German line for a considerable distance both south and west of Riga.

Every officer seen by the Associated Press correspondent expressed the most absolute confidence that the German front here is impregnable. The German front still follows the left bank of the Dvina River from near Berzminde to as far south as a powerful field glass can carry from the highest observation point in the whole region, with the exception of a small sector between Ragazzen and Duenhof, where the front keeps to a straight line to the Ukahl bridgehead. The line has been held without change since last autumn.

LOOKS FOR MACHINERY TO LOWER COST OF LIVING

Secretary Redfield Says Improvements Will Increase Efficiency and Also Cause Gradual Decrease.

WASHINGTON, July 24.—Improvements in machinery promoting increased efficiency have checked the upward swing of prices, according to Secretary of Commerce Redfield, and a gradual decrease in the cost of living will result, he says.

Through machinery improvements larger quantities can be manufactured without any material increase in cost. Mr. Redfield finds, and as a result, though immediate fall in prices should not be looked for, there will be a gradual reduction, within a reasonable time.

"The situation reminds me," Mr. Redfield explained, "of a certain mountain range I know of. You climb gradually a long time until finally you reach the summit. Instead of finding a descent starting immediately, you find a wide level land which goes along practically level, for a considerable distance. But finally the descent begins."

"It should be understood that the price of each particular article, whether food or other material, is governed by its own peculiar conditions. While the summit has been reached on all the articles, I think, the drop in prices will be more rapid with some than with others."

"There is a general tendency, I find, among the manufacturers of the country to install methods of greater efficiency, which, of course, tends to produce more with less expenditure. Therefore, it must follow naturally that there will be a reduction in cost."

U. S. NEGOTIATES TO BUY DANISH WEST INDIES

Treaty, It Is Reported, Soon Will Be Submitted to Senate and to Danish Parliament.

WASHINGTON, July 24.—Negotiations between the United States and Denmark for purchase of the Danish West Indies are reported to have reached a definite stage, where some official reports indicate that the State Department officials have maintained close secrecy regarding the subject. Acting-Secretary Doherty said tonight no purchase had been made, but that the matter was being handled.

TREATY NEGOTIATED, SAYS COPENHAGEN

PHILADELPHIA, July 24.—A treaty for the purchase of the Danish West Indies by the United States has been negotiated, the United States, according to a special cable dispatch to the Public Ledger from Copenhagen.

The treaty, the dispatch says, will in the near future be submitted to the Senate and to the Danish Parliament for approval.

"If the treaty is ratified as it stands in its present form," the dispatch continues, "the United States will pay for the islands $25,000,000, and in addition will relinquish to Denmark the rights of the United States in Greenland, Greenland is a Danish possession, and the rights which the United States will abandon are merely rights of discovery."

The United States will obtain from Denmark full possession of the islands of St. Thomas, St. John and St. Croix, or Santa Cruz, as it is better known."

BLISS FINDS GUARDSMEN SATISFIED WITH CAMPS

Reports of Inefficiency and Bad Rations Declared to Be Entirely False.

MAKES PERSONAL INSPECTION

Only Fault, and That Already Is Remedied, Is That During First Few Days of Mobilization Food Lacked Variety.

WASHINGTON, July 24.—In all the camps of national guardsmen on the Mexican border, consisting of 30,000 militiamen, reports of inefficiency and bad rations are found to be entirely false, according to a dispatch from General Tasker H. Bliss, assistant chief of staff, made public at the War Department today. The report is the result of a personal inspection of the camps made by General Bliss.

The one fault General Bliss found—and that he says already is remedied—was that during the first few days of the mobilization the food lacked variety. Many of the guardsmen, General Bliss reported, said their rations were better than the food they were accustomed to having at home.

"The only ground for criticism (and that is being rapidly remedied)," the report says, "is that in the first few days of the camps they have not had the variety in components of the ration that was desired. This was due partly to the fact that depots have been hastily organized and great quantities of supplies suddenly unloaded in them too rapidly."

"And in my organizations that the enlisted personnel are being bombarded with letters from home begging them to return and to take advantage of any opportunity offered to get out of the service. Thus far the men themselves seem to pay little attention to this. I think that what may prove a principal cause of unrest among certain classes of enlisted personnel is the information which commanding officials tell me is coming from their homes and from employers who now say that as there is to be no war, their promises as to pay and position being held open are no longer in force."

PRACTICAL ABSENCE OF INTOXICATING LIQUORS

"There is one thing that is particularly noticeable and pleasing among the troops that I have thus far seen immediately along the border, and that is the practical absence of intoxicating liquors in the camps. This is noticeable true in the New York division. The officers say the best example in this respect, and the men seem to follow it. The local communities are so small and scattered that there is comparatively little temptation from those sources."

"Even in these early days of the movement their tentage is ample and excellent, their food is ample and excellent, their clothing is excellent and ample for every occasion, and that was not hastily rushed to the border—and even for them all deficiencies are rapidly being supplied; their camps are the best that can be obtained in this country, and appear to be perfectly satisfactory to the commands, their sanitation is excellent, and there is almost no sickness, and that largely confined to the enlisted men, and even to them it is due to a lack of diet from home to camp life."

The American Red Cross today made public from its special agent in El Paso, Tex., Dr. Eugene A. Crockett, of Boston's report. He recommends the sanitation of the camps at Colonia Dublan and comments on the excellent health of the troops. He suggests the sending of books and magazines to the men.

NOTIFIED OF ORDINANCE

Baltimoreans Required to Stand When National Anthem Is Played, or Be Fined $100.

BALTIMORE, July 24.—Policemen today began distribution of copies of a municipal ordinance providing that "musicians, performers or other persons shall stand while playing or singing 'The Star-Spangled Banner.' Any person violating the provisions of the ordinance 'shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be fined not more than $100.'"

Distribution was made to all theaters, moving picture buildings, restaurants and cafes, and to the offices of all municipal unions or branches in Baltimore. In the circular it is pointed out that the "undiscriminate condition of 'The Star-Spangled Banner' or parts thereof in connection with other compositions tends to lower the esteem and reverence in which the national anthem should be held by the people of the nation."

ENGLAND TO SEND SHIP FOR SHACKLETON'S MEN

Vessel Now Being Outfitted for Attempt to Reach Elephant Island.

LONDON, July 24.—In view of the possibility of the failure of the third attempt now being carried out by Sir Ernest Shackleton in a small vessel to rescue twenty-two men of his Antarctic expedition party left on Elephant Island, in the South Shetlands, and at his most urgent request, the government, it is officially announced, now has decided to dispatch a vessel from England for this purpose as soon as she is fitted out, no suitable wooden vessel being available at any South American port.

"The Governor and Company of Adventurers of England Trading into Hudson Bay," has gratuitously placed their vessel Discovery, especially built for Antarctic exploration, at the disposal of the Admiralty. Lieutenant Commander James Fairweather, an experienced ice master, has been appointed to command the vessel, now fitting out at the Devonport Dockyard. On completion of the preparations, if news is not received of a successful rescue of Sir Ernest's present attempt to reach Elephant Island, she will then proceed thence, taking the explorer on board on the way.

It is anticipated, says the announcement, that the vessel will have no difficulty in reaching her destination, and it is sincerely hoped that she will rescue the stranded party.

GREAT AID TO FARMERS

York River Exchange Now Beginning Its Third Year of Operation.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
EST. PORT, VA., July 24.—Beginning its third year of operation in five Tidewater counties, with a membership of 125 of the principal farmers, the business of the York River Farmers' Exchange, with headquarters at West Point, at this time shows the farmers conclusively, the value of the organization as a sales agency.

The exchange has paid out thus far this year for potatoes alone more than $24,418, making each farmer a net average of $2.80 per barrel. With the twelve carloads being shipped now, it is estimated that this season will have shipped more than fifty-five cars of potatoes.

Most of the farmers are well satisfied and are sending in their melon crop. The first shipment of watermelons goes out on Tuesday, and on Wednesday two carloads of watermelons follow. The melons this year being shipped six days earlier than last season.

Last year the exchange shipped 102 cars of watermelons to Northern and Western markets and the farmers were well pleased that this year they increased their acreage and arranged to have been made for shipments of 150 cars. The exchange ships as far west as Detroit, Cleveland and Cincinnati and as far north as Boston, and where there were repeat orders this year. Ohio and West Virginia are the principal markets.

The five counties in the exchange are King William, King and Queen, Gloucester, James City and New Kent. Its membership has increased considerably this year.

Cantaloupes are a new business like year with the members, and already arrangements are under way for the shipment in December of from twenty to thirty carloads of holly and running cedar for the Northern Christmas trade.

Carllett, of Gloucester, is president of the exchange and W. R. Broadus is secretary-treasurer and general manager. The following are directors: C. Adams, John Asher, M. B. Seward, R. L. Jeffries, E. M. Hall, W. R. Broadus and L. C. Catlett.

POSTUM

This famous food-drink is made of prime wheat, roasted with a bit of wholesome molasses. It has a flavor much like that of the higher grades of mild Java coffee, but is absolutely free from the drug, caffeine, in coffee, or any other harmful substance—free from all coffee troubles.

Postum is delicious and comes in two forms. The original Postum Cereal must be boiled. Instant Postum is a soluble powder—made in the cup by adding hot water. The flavor is the same and the cost about equal. Both kinds are good for young and old, and satisfy the craving for a hot, aromatic, meal-time beverage.
